2012 BCSC 1217 Pastor v. Arora IN THE SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA Citation: Pastor v. Arora, 2012 BCSC 1217 Date: 20120730 Docket: E122131 Registry: Vancouver Between: Katerina Lorena Pastor Claimant And: Ankur Bhagat Arora Respondent Before: The Honourable Mr. Justice Savage Oral Reasons for Judgment In Chambers Counsel for the Claimant: No appearance Counsel for Respondent: T.L. Mihoc Place and Date of Trial/Hearing: Vancouver, B.C. July 30, 2012 Place and Date of Judgment: Vancouver, B.C. July 30, 2012

- [1] THE COURT: I have heard from the respondent with respect to their application, which is an ex parte application.
- [2] It seeks some orders which are certainly, in my experience, unusual. I am prepared to grant, upon consideration, the following orders:
1. The claimant is enjoined and restrained from further accessing, either directly or indirectly through her agents, the storage locker referred to in the order of Master Taylor of July 16, 2012, without further court order or written consent of the respondent.
 2. The claimant is enjoined and restrained from, either directly or indirectly through her agents, transferring, conveying, assigning, charging, and recovering or otherwise dealing with any property removed from the home of the respondent by the claimant or her agents after March 2, 2012, including the personal items listed in paragraph 23 of the claimant's affidavit number 1, sworn on July 11, 2012.
 3. The terms of this order are police enforceable.
- [3] I am going to adjourn the balance of the application, which may proceed on notice to the claimant. Such notice may be effected by delivering the materials on the claimant at her email address of katerinapastor@hotmail.com and on her counsel, Tracey Jackson of Dunnaway, Jackson, Ouellet & Associates, through delivery on their offices.
- [4] Service of this order may be effected on the claimant and her agents by serving the materials on the claimant at the aforementioned email address, and on her solicitor's office, and on her agents, by delivery to their email addresses that are in the possession of the respondent.

- [5] Costs of this application will be costs in the cause.
- [6] Now, the order should be prepared by the respondent, and if you provide it to me today, I will sign the order and dispense with the signature of the other party on the order.
- [7] MS. MIHOC: Thank you. We cannot follow exactly service on everyone. We only have the email of Bil Ahira, no one else.
- [8] THE COURT: What you will have to do is you will have to deliver it to -- what I said, you could deliver it to her agents by delivery to the solicitor and by delivery to her, the claimant, and by delivery to all of those agents of which you have email addresses. All right?
- [9] MS. MIHOC: Okay. So even if it is just the one? Okay.
- [10] THE COURT: I don't know how many email addresses you have.
- [11] MS. MIHOC: Okay. Okay.
- [12] THE COURT: All right. "The Honourable Mr. Justice Savage"
