bjbj CACC000210/1969 IN THE SUPREME COURT OF HONG KONG APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL APPEAL NO. 210 OF 1969.

BETWEEN LI WAH Appellant THE QUEEN Respondent Coram: Huggins, J. Date of Judgment:
28th April, 1969.

JUDGMENT
