JUDGMENT

THE BAILIFF: 1. Casey, you are fortunate that no more serious injury was caused when the glass you were holding struck the girl in the eye she could easily have been blinded and even though she has not been prosecuted for her part in these events, she will carry a scar for the rest of her life. 2. We accept that you were provoked. We accept that you only intended to throw drink over her and that the blow with the glass was accidental. We have also taken account of everything that your advocate has said of your previous good character, the matters set out in the background report, and in particular the care you are continuing to give to your mother. 3. We think that the appropriate penalty in this case is a fine rather than a community service order, a fine which will sting sufficiently to remind you of what can go wrong when you lose control and drink too much. We are going to fine you £2000 and that fine will be paid at a rate of £200 per week. In default of payment you will go to prison for 9 months.
