{\cs48\expnd2\expndtw10\insrsid6780911\charrsid3294326 Counsel submitted that it would not be proper exercise of the court's discret ion to extend time for the applicant to file appeal out of time or to validate the appeal which was filed out of time. Moreover, in Civil Application No. 3/2002 Mr. Mbabazi and Birungi appeared together. In that application the respondents were seeking lea ve to have the appeal struck out. That application was adjourned and applicant's application was still pending. In the circumstances, this would not be a proper case for this court to exercise discretion to grant the extension. Counsel cited the case of where extension of time was granted because it was found that the mistake was that of the court.

Karia & Anor - vs - Attorney General & Others Supreme Court Civil Application No. 1 of 2003

On the allegation of mix-up, this would not arise because the record of appeal was ready on 23

rd August 2001. The dates of 9
th

November, 9 th
October and 9

th

Rule 4 of the Rules of this Court under which this application was tiled reads:

"The Court may, for sufficient reason, extend the time presented by these Rules or by any decision of the Court or of the Court of Appeal for the doing of any act authorised or required by these Rules, whether before or after the expiration of that time and whether before or after the doing of the act; any reference in these Rules to deny such time shall be construed as reference to the time so extended."

There are many decisions of this Court and of the East Afric an Court of Appeal which have interpreted Rule 4 of the Rules of this Court. I shall quote in extensio the portion of the decision of this Court from page 4 to page 6 in the case of Crane Finance Co. Ltd. - vs - Makerere Properties (Supreme Court) Civil Application No. 1 of 2001 } (unreported) which raised issues similar to those in the instant case. These we stated as follows

"The rule envisages four scenarios in which extension of time for the doing of an act so authorised or required, may be granted, namely -

before expiration of the limited time;

(b)

after expiration of the limited time;

(c) before the act is done;

\par {\pntext\pard\plain\s30 \cs36\b\i\charrsid3294326 \hich\af0\dbch\af0\loch\f0 (d)\tab}after the act is done."

The situation in the instant case is a combination of scenario (b) and (d). the appellant applied for, and Kitumba JA, granted extension of time for filing and serving of the record of appeal, long after limited time had expired, and also after the acts of filing and serving the record of appeal had been done. The bone of contention however, is in respect of scenario (d) namely the effect of such extension on th acts which had already been done. We thin that it is obvious that the contended effect is to bring an act within the time as so extended. There would have been no reason to include that scenario in the rule if an act done out of time was an incurable nul

l

ity. It is because it is not a nullity that under rule 12 of the same Rules, the Registrar is required to accept documents filed out of time, and only to endorse them to that effect. A reading of rr 4 and 12 together clearly indicates that while a documen t filed out of time is voidable, it may be validated by extension on time.
